The Kairos Document

One of the key church documents from the heart of the freedom struggle in South Africa, the Kairos Document, produced back in 1985 & 1986, has had a rich afterlife in other freedom struggles. Does it have helpful resonances with the situation in the UK today as we try to respond to Black Lives Matter? Let's re-read it and discuss it for ourselves.

The text of the Kairos Document will be available on the URC website...

We'll be looking together at a selection of poems by black authors from the time of slavery to the present day, from the UK, the Caribbean and the Americas, with the help of our own black poet, Karen Campbell.

Poignant, challenging, inspiring, humorous....

A document giving the texts of some poems and weblinks to others will be available on the URC website
